

24 original packaging directions / ages 3-18

Five collections. One considered design language.

Vector concept edition | Manufacturer & investor proposal

A name for becoming.

VELORI is a fictional master brand built around curiosity, personal expression and a calmer approach to youth fragrance. The name is a creative proposal; trademark and domain clearance have not been performed.

The wordmark uses widely spaced uppercase letters. A V monogram suggests two paths meeting: imagination and responsibility. Warm paper, deep ink and restrained colour pairings carry across all five collections.

Boys, girls and unisex are merchandising categories, not restrictions on who may enjoy a design. The sensory brief, formula and suitability remain open development decisions.

Brand assets: editable wordmark and monogram SVG, individual labels, retail cartons, gift systems and campaign visuals are included in the source package.

The logo features a large, dark blue, serif capital letter 'V' centered at the top. Below it, the word 'VELORI' is written in a dark blue, serif, all-caps font with wide letter spacing.

SMALL WORLDS. EXTRAORDINARY PRESENCE.

Design with care. Build with evidence.

01 / A distinctive silhouette

Twenty-four different body envelopes, not a repeated bottle with new colours. Child-oriented motifs are abstracted into integral forms with broad radii and standing bases.

02 / A controlled experience

The youngest collection proposes parent-applied dab formats; ages 6-9 propose parent-controlled roll-ons. There is no assumption that fragrance is suitable for a particular child. Formulation and exposure assessment must precede any launch.

03 / A disciplined manufacturing brief

Dimensions are target envelopes. Capacity, headspace, neck finish, wall thickness, draft, tooling access and closure retention require engineering. Concept artwork is not production CAD.

04 / A material hierarchy

Plastic candidates for younger users; glass considered for older teens only after breakage assessment. Uncoated paperboard and removable components support disposal where local facilities accept them.

Visual honesty: all product images are vector concept illustrations with shaded surfaces and schematic perspective. They are not Blender models or photorealistic 3D renders.

A gift, thoughtfully assembled.

FOLDED BOARD TRAY / REMOVABLE PAPER SLEEVES / NO MAGNETS

Discovery Trio / Junior & Teen

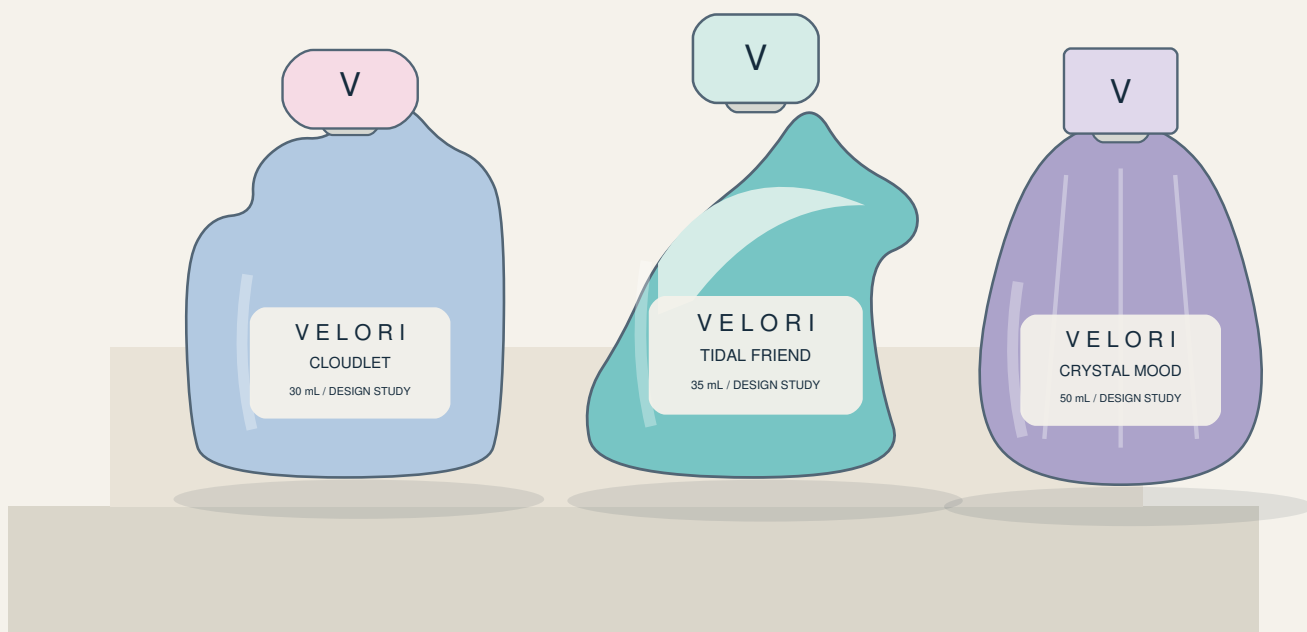

Three products from a single assessed age range, in a paperboard tray. The visual shows shape options, not an approved age combination. Outer gift carton target: 260 x 145 x 65 mm; supplier to validate fit.

Little Magic / Parent & Child Ritual

A single bottle with an adult instruction card in a tuck-top carton. No loose toys, glitter, magnetic closures or sweet-like accessories. Gift box target: 100 x 130 x 65 mm.

Retail artwork includes trim outlines and fold guides. Flaps, glue areas and bleed must be revised against the supplier dieline before printing.

A quiet stage for bold shapes.

VELORI / YOUR NEXT CHAPTER

Counter display / 600 x 280 x 220 mm target

Folded paperboard stepped riser with reusable base; removable printed headers. Final stability, load rating and transit durability need prototype testing.

Campaign direction

Large-scale silhouettes, warm studio backgrounds and one direct line: "Your next chapter." Parent-facing instructions accompany younger ranges. No claims of wellbeing, clinical benefit or child safety are implied.

Retail logic

Organise by collection and application format; make adult supervision information easy to find. The illustrated arrangement is a merchandising study.

From silhouette to sample.

GATE 1 / Feasibility and supplier quotation

Validate cavity volume against target fill and headspace. Confirm neck finish, wall thickness, draft angles, minimum radii, mould seams, shrinkage and standing stability. Obtain tooling and unit-cost quotes at multiple order quantities. No manufacturing cost is asserted in this proposal.

GATE 2 / Functional prototypes

Prototype body envelopes and retained closures. Test adult operability, accidental opening, leakage, drop resistance, pump or roll-on retention, cap torque and repeated-use wear. Neither a captive cap nor a travel lock is certified child-resistant.

GATE 3 / Formula and packaging interaction

Check migration, swelling, stress cracking, seal compatibility, odour carry-over and shelf-life stability using the final formulation and assembled pack. Assess colourants and coatings; external finishes should not contaminate the formula.

GATE 4 / Production and disposal

Approve tooling samples, colour masters and print proofs. Record quality limits, lot traceability and transport validation. Prefer light decoration and paper inserts; confirm recycling routes locally. Recycled polymers require purity and compatibility assessment.

Complexity is a comparative design estimate: High = sculptural tooling or complex relief; Medium = simpler asymmetric or geometric envelope. It is not a supplier quotation.

Safety is a development requirement.

For ages 3-5, the fragrance proposition itself requires qualified assessment. Parent-applied, non-spray formats may reduce airborne exposure but do not establish suitability. Assess intended use, foreseeable misuse, ingestion, eye contact, skin exposure and access by younger siblings.

A qualified cosmetic safety assessor must evaluate the complete formula, ingredient restrictions, impurities, fragrance allergens and exposure for each target age and application site. Consider sensitisation and irritation; natural ingredients are not automatically less sensitising. Select an exposure-appropriate formula only after this review.

For water-containing formulas, establish microbiological quality and preservative efficacy. Conduct stability and packaging compatibility studies. Determine evidence needed for any product claim; do not use "hypoallergenic", "non-toxic", "dermatologically tested" or "safe for children" without substantiation.

Packaging risk work must address breakage, sharp edges, choking-size parts, leakage and retained applicators. Motifs are integral relief, not attachable toys. The carton should clearly distinguish fragrance from toys or edible products.

The younger-use closures are concepts, not certified child-resistant devices. Show adult supervision and keep-away instructions in the final assessed label. Evaluate flammability and transit requirements if the final formula contains alcohol.

Release gate: documented formula assessment, packaging tests, approved label copy and market-specific review. The current proposal authorises none of these claims.

Choose the market. Confirm the rules.

This is a market-selection checklist, not a compliance opinion. Destination markets are not specified. Regulatory counsel and the responsible manufacturer must confirm current requirements at launch.

UNITED STATES

FDA describes the responsible person's duty to ensure adequate safety substantiation and maintain supporting records. Assess applicable MoCRA registration, listing, adverse-event and labelling obligations, including whether any exemptions apply. Cosmetic labels require a market-specific review.

EUROPEAN UNION

The European Commission requires an expert scientific safety assessment before market entry. Assess responsible-person, product information file, notification and label obligations under Regulation (EC) No 1223/2009. Fragrance allergen labelling depends on the binding Annex III list and applicable transition arrangements.

OTHER DESTINATIONS

For India and other launch countries, obtain local review of classification, manufacturing/import permissions, ingredient restrictions, mandatory pack declarations and applicable language requirements. No jurisdiction is treated as approved here.

BACK-PANEL COPY TO COMPLETE

Product identity, net contents, ingredient list, appropriate allergen declarations, responsible entity/contact, batch, durability or period-after-opening, use instructions and warnings as applicable. The illustrated barcode is decorative, not a registered retail barcode.
